

Last modified: 24/08/2020

1. Cookies

When You visit this website we may place certain information on Your computer or mobile device in the form of a “cookie”; this enables us to recognize You (when we read the cookie) automatically next time You visit.

Cookies can help us in a number of ways. For instance, they can enable us to adapt this website so that it is better suited to Your needs or store Your password so that You do not have to re-enter it each time.

In the matrix available below You will find an overview of the cookies we are using on this specific website. Underneath You will find the purpose, expiry date and nature of such cookies.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Your options to manage which cookies can be placed or read by us from Your computer or mobile device are set forth below. When You do not accept cookies defined hereunder as 'Strictly Necessary', Your visit to this website will not be possible. If You reject other cookies, certain offerings, features or resources of our website may not work properly and You may experience some loss of convenience or functionality.

2. Types of cookies

Following types of cookie may be used during Your visit to this website:

Duration of Storage	Explanation of cookie
Session	Automatically deleted when You close Your browser
Persistent	Remains stored on Your terminal device until it reaches the expiry date as defined hereunder

Responsible party	Explanation of cookie
First party	Placed by the data controller (or any of its processors) operating the website visited by You, as defined by the URL that is usually displayed in the browser address bar (meaning: placed by us)
Third party	Placed by data controllers that do not operate the website currently visited by You (meaning: not placed by us)

3. Cookie categories

Type of cookie	Management options
Strictly Necessary – means if such cookies are disabled Your visit to this website will not be possible	In case You want to disable please check Your browser settings  http://www.wikihow.com/Disable-Cookies to either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Immediately remove cookies from Your computer or mobile device;</li> <li>• Block cookies;</li> <li>• Issue a warning before a cookie is placed.</li> </ul> If You remove or disable these cookies, Your visit to this website will not be possible
Functional – means if such cookies are disabled we will not be able to provide the functionalities as explicitly requested by You	In case You want to disable please check Your browser settings  http://www.wikihow.com/Disable-Cookies to either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Immediately remove cookies from Your computer or mobile device;</li> <li>• Block cookies;</li> <li>• Issue a warning before a cookie is placed.</li> </ul> If You remove or disable these cookies, it is possible that You cannot use some features on this website
Social plug-in tracking – means third party (social	In case You want to disable please check Your

network) cookies used by social plug-in modules integrated by us in this website which are not Functional but are used to track individuals for purposes such as behavioural advertising, analytics or market research	browser settings  http://www.wikihow.com/Disable-Cookies) to either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Immediately remove cookies from Your computer or mobile device;</li> <li>• Block cookies;</li> <li>• Issue a warning before a cookie is placed.</li> </ul> If You remove or disable these cookies, it is possible that You cannot use some features on this website
Third party advertising – means third party cookies used for advertising and purposes such as behavioural advertising, frequency capping, financial logging, ad affiliation, click fraud detection, research and market analysis, product improvement and debugging	In case You want to disable please check Your browser settings  http://www.wikihow.com/Disable-Cookies) to either: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Immediately remove cookies from Your computer or mobile device;</li> <li>• Block cookies;</li> <li>• Issue a warning before a cookie is placed.</li> </ul> If You remove or disable these cookies, it is possible that You cannot use some features on this website  Currently
First party analytics – means cookies generated by this website in order to enable us to obtain statistics about the visitors of this website (e.g. number of unique visitors, track down website navigation issues, detect frequently used search engine keywords ...)	In case You want to disable please check Your browser settings  http://www.wikihow.com/Disable-Cookies) to either:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Immediately remove cookies from Your computer or mobile device;</li> </ul>
Third party analytics – means cookies generated by third parties in order to obtain statistics about the visitors of their websites (e.g. number of unique visitors, track down website navigation issues, detect frequently used search engine keywords ...)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Block cookies;</li> <li>• Issue a warning before a cookie is placed.</li> </ul> If You remove or disable these cookies, it is possible that You cannot use some features on this website.

4. Overview of cookies

4.1 Strictly Necessary

Cookie Name	Purpose	Category	Expires
loginToken	Cookie used to save the token and e-mail address for users that are logged in to the website. This will confirm that the current user is logged in, without having to log in again.	Strictly necessary	10 days
loginEmail
cookiebar	Cookie used to save if the user has accepted the Cookies on the Cookie Notification Bar. This used to determine if the Cookie Notification bar should be displayed or not. If user has already accepted, then don't show the Bar.	Strictly necessary	100 days cookie			